Dear Motti:

I want to update you on the successes we have been having with the ActiVessel.

We have been using the device on patients with lower leg/foot neuropathy, both diabetic and non diabetic etiology. We have used the set up protocol as described in the videos for peripheral neuropathy. We have had excellent outcomes in both pain reduction, skin color and functional mobility improvements in our patients.

We initially have trialed the unit on one extremity and the benefits have been so good that patients are requesting that we do it also on the opposite extremity. I believe the outcomes are very promising for this patient population who have been previously limited to management outcomes as opposed to restorative outcomes. Our patients are encouraged and telling the story. Thank you and your team for bringing this to market and the potential benefit for neuropathic pain patient.

Sincerely,

Jim Hambrick, PT
